Earlybird registration opened in mid-May for PAMS Performing Arts Market in Seoul 2017, taking place 14-19 October. This year you can enjoy showcases, booth exhibitions, information sessions and networking opportunities throughout Daehak-no district in Seoul, Korea's most famous area for performing arts. PAMS is a major international networking opportunity for performing arts professionals, to learn about what's happening in the Korean performing arts scene and to connect with professionals from around the world. Under the support of Ministry of Culture, Sports and Tourism, Korea Arts Management Service has been hosting PAMS (Performing Arts Market in Seoul) every October. The primary objects of PAMS are revitalization of rational distribution and exportation to overseas markets for Korean performing arts that based on diversified orientation and creation. Through the diverse programs of PAMS as showcases of selected performing arts, booth exhibitions for the promotion of art works and artistic groups, varied symposium and networking programs, all the performing arts experts are able to share the information of field and global trends for encouragement of creation and provision of performing arts.
