Art & Market is looking for freelance writers!

To indicate your interest, fill out the Google Form on our Linktree.

Art & Market is seeking freelance writers to write critically and/or creatively in response to the Southeast Asian art scene and beyond. They welcome traditional art writing such as previews, reviews, analytical and observational essays, as well as text formats that are more unconventional for the genre, such as short stories, poems and conversations.

Art & Market is a multimedia platform presenting specialist content on Southeast Asian art, with a focus on its community's artistic, curatorial and business practices.

Since its launch in October 2018, Art & Market has built a growing archive of news, reviews, analysis and profiles. They have also expanded their content to include projects such as Fresh Take, a writing contest in search of new perspectives, as well as live events such as the conference 'PIVOT: The Southeast Asian Art World Beyond Covid-19', the thought leadership series RESET, organised in partnership with Singapore Art Week 2021, and LANDING, which continued the conversations from the annual e-publication CHECK-IN to find out how art practitioners in Southeast Asia are landing on their feet against changes in the Southeast Asian art scene.

This is a paid opportunity. Interested writers should fill in the application form and pitch ideas are welcome.
