IGBK Weblog a.RTISTS IN TRANSIT__Call for Artists to write about their experiences of residencies, working and travelling abroad for the visual arts mobility blog.

At a.RTISTS IN TRANSIT (<http://blog.igbk.de>) artists who work and travel or do a residency abroad have been sharing experiences on their mobile lives since the end of 2010. IGBK now calls for further visual artists working internationally who like to write (in English language) and who feel like exchanging experiences online.

Apply by email (IGBK office: art@igbk.de)

The weblog is linked to the IGBK conference a.RTISTS IN TRANSIT that took place in October 2011 at the Weißensee Kunsthochschule Berlin (www.igbk.de/projekte/artists-in-transit-2011). A documentation on that conference will be published in August.

The Internationale Gesellschaft der Bildenden Künste (IGBK), based in Berlin, unites Germany's three most important national artist associations: Bundesverband Bildender Künstlerinnen und Künstler (Federal Association of Artists), Deutscher Künstlerbund (German Artists' Association) and GEDOK, Verband der Gemeinschaften der Künstlerinnen und Kunstförderer (Federation of Women Artists and Patrons of the Arts). We therefore represent more than 13,000 visual artists in Germany. The association was founded in 1957 as the German National Committee of the International Association of Art (IAA).

Service

We advice visual artists regarding work opportunities and grants in Germany and abroad and provide international contacts. We also help with formalities with respect to (exhibition) projects abroad and provide information regarding transport and customs issues, for example. Thereby IGBK facilitates access to the diverse range of international work and exchange opportunities and promotes cross-border mobility.
