The Artro | global platform for Korean contemporary art

Announcing the launch of 'The Artro' - a new global platform for Korean contemporary art. The aim is to open up long-term access to the international art scene through an online platform that provides domestic and foreign artists, curators and arts managers with information and expertise on Korean contemporary art.

The Artro provides a space for in depth discussions and critiques on Korean contemporary art exhibitions and events as well as practical information on international exchange programmes and shows.

Check out the interesting article in Issue by Lee Joon, considering what might be the Korean Modern Art Keywords for 2012.

A monthly online magazine - Issue - offers Art Talk articles and features.

The Artro is published in Korean and English.
