German Film Week in Hanoi | Goethe Institut

This January, the Goethe-Institute Hanoi presents a German Film Week starting on January 6th until January 11th. Seven new films will be projected, giving the audience a chance to take a glimpse at Germany's latest film productions. "Soul Kitchen", the most recent film of the director Fatih Akin, is the opening film of this week, followed by the teen film "Sascha", treating the issue of a 19 year old boy's coming-out. "Gravity" is a socio-critical comedy, which relates to the current financial crisis. On the evening of January 9th, short films of a variety of genres from drama to comedy will be projected during a 70-minute screening session. The German Film Week's programming aims to present a large array of unusual films directed by well known and emerging young filmmakers. See film schedule
