Hanoi Sound Stuff Festival

Hanoi Sound Stuff Festival 2013 programme is packed with an assorted mix of International and Vietnamese artists focused on Audio and Visual. The two main festival events on April 12 and 13 in Hanoi feature Japanese, Austrian, UK, Swedish, German, Swiss and Vietnamese artists. New collaborations and activities aim to reach an even broader range of audiences and music students to join electronic and experimental performances and events. Hanoi Sound Stuff Festival aspires to create a unique world of quality electronic and experimental music and art with boundary-pushing sounds, creative performances and collaborations between International and Vietnamese artists to spur an interest among young Vietnamese audiences. In 2013 Hanoi Sound Stuff Festival will also organise a number of master classes for musicians and music students in both Hanoi and Hue. The master classes are taught by the International artists and organised in collaboration with Hanoi Cultural University, Goethe Institut, Manzi Artspace. Hanoi Sound Stuff Festival will collaborate with Goethe Institut and Hanoi Grapevine to organise Art Talk event in Hanoi. This will be an opportunity for interested audiences to hear and talk with all International, and Vietnamese artists about their experiences as experimental and electronic artists.
