Museums' Values for Society: Call for best practices

The Network of European Museum Organisations

(NEMO) has recently issued a call for best practice examples which help to underline the importance of museums at European level and their impact on society. The network is looking for best practice examples and projects from museums all over Europe in order to illustrate the following four values:

- Social value
- Collection value
- Educational value
- Economic value

The call builds on NEMO's policy statement, which describes the network's understanding of the aforementioned four values.
