Oslo Screen Festival | call for new video art entries

International call for new video art. Oslo Screen Festival is now open for entries and would like to invite artists to send new video art works to the festival's 4th edition in March 2014.

The festival will take place at the cinemateque in Filmens Hus and other locations in the city.

- The festival entry is free.
- Submitted videos must have been completed after January 2012.
- Running time 10 min maximum (we are flexible, send us an email if your film is longer).

- Deadline is November 1st 2013.
- All decisions are final.
- An award of €1000 will be given to the best video.

Oslo Screen Festival is an international festival for video art happening in Oslo every two years. This is a non-profit initiative started in 2008 by visual artist Margarida Paiva and producer Rune Sandnes.

Both established and emerging artists are invited to send their work. The festival focuses on works that seek their own language through subjectivity and experimentation. The selected works will be part of the festival's archive. Throughout the year the festival presents curated programmes in collaborative festivals around the world.

The aim of the festival is to establish a platform for video art in Norway for both Norwegian and international artists. Our wish is to break boundaries in the selection of video art and visualize a wider cultural diversity of expressions and forms. The purpose of the festival is to inspire the artistic and cultural environments in Norway and to stimulate the audiences' consciousness of the world around.
