This fifth-edition Green Travel and Transport Guide from onboard:earth is for everyone who works in live events, and especially for those who have decision-making capacity or can influence travel and transport plans and behaviour. This includes; event organisers, traffic management companies, suppliers, artist management, ticket agencies and more.

Tackling travel is challenging but do-able and often requires partnership working, as many of the research updates and case studies in this guide demonstrate. Even small reductions make a difference and can ripple out to create larger behavioural and meaningful changes.

The guide provides up-to-date information, best practice and inspiration to empower the live events industry to understand and take action on its greatest carbon impact, travel.
