International Association of Libraries and Museum of the Performing Arts

International Association of Libraries and Museum of the Performing Arts or SIBMAS is a forum for people in the performing arts community worldwide to search for information of any research, practical and theoretical document in the category of performing arts.

Since 1954, SIBMAS has been the international network of cultural heritage in the performing arts. Spread across 35 countries around the world, they gather individuals and institutions documenting circus, dance, film, opera, theatre and puppetry. They promote research in the performing arts, facilitate networking among members and share resources about their specific collections and the performing arts in general.
