Microwave International Media Art Festival

Festival director: Jamsen Law/ Winnie Fu

The Film Festival is held every year in late Fall.

The Microwave International Media Art Festival is an international festival in Hong Kong, which aims to promote cultural exchange and appreciation of new media art. MIMFA - the biggest annual video art event in Hong Kong, is bringing in lots of new media art works, spanning the boundary between art and technology. MIMAF presents a multi-facet programme that includes interactive media art installation exhibition, net art exhibition, seminars and forum on media art development, musical as well as the screenings on international video and artist-in-residence workshops.
